

To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Bridget Gee, I'm a former student under the leadership of Cameron Martin. Currently, I've been on staff with InterVarsity Christian Fellowship in the Rocky Mountain Region for 7.5 years. I recently finished a 4-year stint leading the chapter at the University of Arizona. InterVarsity is the nation's oldest campus ministry and we specialize in spiritual and leadership development of this generation's upcoming leaders. In my job, I have:

- traveled to other countries with my students to attend and run English/cultural exchange programs
- led trainings on how to effectively have spiritual conversations
- spoken as a keynote at several conferences

- raised my entire budget and salary, plus scholarships for students for nearly 8 consecutive years
- become a proficient event planner and organizer

All of these skills and more began to develop in me under the leadership and guidance of Cameron Martin when I was in high school. I cannot stress enough how formative those years were for me. Cameron gave me resources and experiences that shaped who I've become and prepared me for this life-transforming work with people. He was consistent in meeting with me regularly to grow and challenge me. He always saw the best in me, spoke truth over my life, and championed me like no one else had. I owe much of who I am to him. I remember that two weeks into college, I called him up crying, telling him that I wanted my old life back. But he calmly and gently reminded me that I would be more than fine, and that he believed in me. Just as much as he invests in his leaders, he's willing to release them into new and bigger things, which is one of the greatest strengths of a leader of leaders. His leadership is what ultimately led me to my involvement with IVCF.

You have an asset in Cameron Martin in every sense. He's an amazing leader and speaker who is dedicated to his people, and willing to pour his time and energy in to people of all backgrounds. I would recommend Cameron for any job where his skills and giftings can be used in their greatest measure.

Thank you,

Bridget Gee

InterVarsity AZ bridget.gee@intervarsity.org