Re: Rev. Cameron Martin

To Whom It May Concern,

The purpose of this letter is to provide you with a recommendation and reference regarding Rev. Cameron Martin.

But first let me introduce myself. I am the Founder-Director of Leaders that Last Ministries. A non-profit organization that offers counseling, coaching and consulting services to clergy and churches. Our website is www.leadersthatlast.org. It was in this capacity that I first came to know Cameron.

He is a competent and experienced Pastoral leader. His gifting and dedication have made him known in the local community. He loves Jesus and is concerned that those not yet in relationship with Jesus become connected to Him holistically in biblical community.

Lastly, I would like to share that he is a man of good character. 'What you see is what you get' is a fair description of Cameron. He does not have hidden agendas and manipulative means. He is authentic, transparent and honest I have no hesitation in recommending him to you as a genuine, caring human being, a competent leader, and a good man.

Please don't hesitate to contact me if I may be of further assistance.

Sincerely,

Rev. Alfred H. Ells, M.C.
